Dear EPA Officials,

I write to offer my passionate support for a full cleanup of the Portland Harbor Superfund Site. The plan as it exists is inadequate to ensure the continued health of wildlife, the fish we eat, and the entire ecosystem. I live two blocks from the river, savor the sight of blue heron and occasionally, eagles, eat salmon our friends catch. The life long the river enriches my everyday experience in ways I cannot imagine losing. But far worse is the idea that our short-sightedness will leave a toxic disaster for future generations. Now is the time for corporate polluters and other responsible parties to partner with government to begin a thorough clean-up effort.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
